

Weather

Most people hate the rain, though others hate the sun
Some people don't really give a damn and take it as it comes
Some people watch the forecast religiously each day
They need to know what weather is heading in their way
Others can't be bothered they cannot see the use
They know the weathers coming and there's nothing they can do
Floods and droughts without a doubt can cause a lot of grief
Pouring rain or scorching sun beating down with no relief
Weather like the seasons inevitably change
Spring turns into summer as sun turns into rain
Autumn turns to winter as rain turns into sleet
Crunching through the footsteps the snow beneath the feet
Then the wind starts blowing, watch the spinning weather vain
Signalling a gentle breeze has become a hurricane Tearing at slates and roof tiles and throwing them around
People run for cover like ants upon the ground
The weather has a say in the clothes that people wear
Sunglasses, shorts and t-shirts if the weather's fair
Hats and scarves, gloves and coats, wrapped up like an Eskimo
Perfect if the weather's cold, and you cannot stand the snow
The thing that irritates me most, about the weather is, I find
It shows you what it's going to do, then changes it's bloody mind
