

I was longing to
see again
that lovely smile
innocently given
to anyone who was out
and about in the gallery
on this murky
Thursday.

I wanted a hug, a
tight embrace
that said:

Love is free on this miserable afternoon.

