

By the light of the moon
You shall sleep tight and swoon
For the ones you have loved
And the ones you have lost
How much will a shove
Compare to the cost
Of a life taken so early
The grave is nearly ready
What happened to your dear Shirley
She died with a hand on her teddy
She was only ten when she breathed her last